

Geology

All geology students have access to electronic resources which are being constantly updated. These include past exam questions and mark schemes, lesson Powerpoints, notes and handouts. As a practical subject students need to access the various rock samples to fully understand the subtleties within, these are available in the department. Tutorial support is available during some lunchtimes. There are always more questions to be worked on. The department also holds various advanced textbooks which can be loaned out to students on an individual basis by request.
